

Emory's Advances in Urology Sets A New Record

The 12th annual Advances in Urology was held on Dec 6-7, 2013 by Emory Urology set a new attendance record this year. A total of 130 urologists and advanced practice professionals from 9 states attended this 2-day CME-accredited urology conference.

A total of 25 lectures were delivered by 17 Emory University faculty members and three guest lecturers that included Dr. David A. Bloom from the University of Michigan (Ann Arbor), Dr. Brian R.

Matlaga from Johns Hopkins University and Dr. David E. Penson from Vanderbilt University. In addition, the conference provided 16 urology exhibits for attendees to update their knowledge on the latest equipment, devices and medications in urology. This event highlights Emory Urology's commitment to providing high quality education to community as well as academic urologists, advanced practice professionals, and nurses throughout the Southeast region. The knowledge and skills gained from this educational activity positively impact practices as judged by many of the feedback comments received from the attendees: "Refine treatment decision making." "... is the best I've heard in terms of practicality." "Remain up-to-date regarding practice guidelines." Emory's Advances in Urology conference is held annually on the weekend after Thanksgiving. Please mark your calendar for next year's Advances in Urology December 5-6, 2014.
